Permanent Reservoir at Millwood

The Southwest Arkansas Water District won when the Army Engineer Board for Rivers and Harbors gave approval to a permanent reservoir at Millwood near the confluence of the Little river with the Red.

But the Little River Valley Improvement Association, which advocates a "dry" Millwood dam and small upstream dams, didn't entirely lose out.

The board added a stipulation that Millwood couldn't be operated as a "wet" dam until at least one of the six proposed smaller dams is built. No structure received priority. Construction could go forward simultaneously.

When residents of the Red river valley for flood control, we favored the upstream dam plan, because the small dams would altogether furnish just about the same amount of flood protection that could be secured at Millwood. The little dams would also assist industrial development without submerging so much good farm and timber land.

But the "dry" Millwood, that was offered as a compromise after communities in the lower Little river drainage area became interested in additional benefits, looked to us like a foolish, half-hearted solution. Though the dam were to impound water only during flood periods, temporary inundation would be a drawback to maximum economic development. A dam costing millions of dollars should be designed to afford all possible benefits.

That's what the Southwest Water District wants of Millwood. The cities in this organization cannot expect to attract large industries unless an ample water supply is available.

The same holds true for the communities of the upper Little river basin. The six small dams would enable them to make greater use of timber and other resources.

It is to be hoped that the upstream and downstream interests will drop their differences and take up their mutual needs, so conflicting opinions won't hinder both when the plans receive further study in Washington.

Possibility of Losing Iceland Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) said today possible loss of overseas air bases by this country is an important reason for the Senate to approve a billion-dollar increase in Air Force funds.

"The truth is that our overseas bases are becoming less and less reliable to support our air-atomic power... From Iceland to Okinawa, key strategic bases are being lost under political attack," Jackson said in the speech prepared for Senate delivery.

Jackson contended that if the overseas bases are lost, more B-32 long-range bombers capable of operating from this country will be needed to deter the increasing Soviet strategic air power.

Admiral King Critically Ill

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (AP) — Adm. Ernest J. King, 77, who led the U. S. Navy to victory in World War II, was reported in critical condition with a failing heart today at Portsmouth Naval Hospital.

The wartime chief of naval operations was reported suffering from a circulatory and respiratory failure after he was stricken with a heart ailment early yesterday.

500 FOREST FIRES A DAY

Shocking but true. Last year alone there were some 177,000 forest fires in the United States—an average of nearly 500 per day. They burned a total area of nearly 10 million acres.

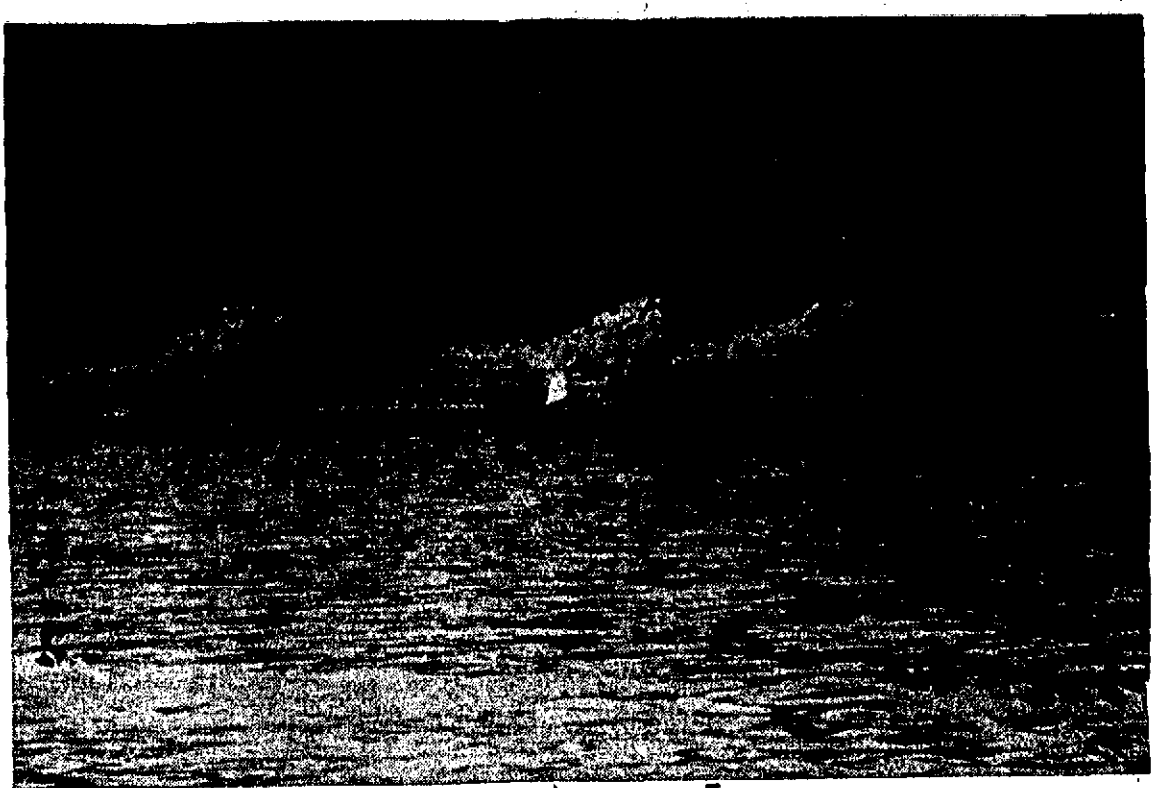

The tragic part of this destruction is that 9 out of 10 of these fires were caused by human carelessness—carelessness with camp fires, cigarettes, brush and clearing fires and burning rubbish.

So please, wherever you are, be extra careful with every fire.

REMEMBER, ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES

30 Persons Die in Crash of British Plane

KANO, Nigeria (UP) — A British airliner crashed and burned in the African forest on takeoff from Kano airport last night, killing 30 of the 45 persons aboard.

Minister of Transport Harold Watkinson told the House of Commons in London that only 10 passengers and five crewmen survived the flaming crash into the trees.

A spokesman for the British Overseas Airways Corporation confirmed a final total of 30 dead.

The plane landed on the tree tops saved the survivors. The four-engined airliner burst into flames when it crashed into some trees three miles from Kano runway outside this ancient walled city of Moslem shrines.

Airport officials said the plane apparently climbed into a storm cloud as it labored for altitude on takeoff. It lost height and crashed into the Nigerian forest.

The pilot, Capt. Herbert Tomlinson, 36, an RAF bomber pilot during the war, panicked the plane's nose high into the treetops in a crash landing that cushioned the impact, he survived.

A BOAC spokesman said 11 passengers and five crewmen survived out of the 38 passengers and seven crew members aboard.

Most of the passengers were British or Nigerian. The victims included Stewardess Kay Buckley, 30, of County Cork, Ireland, and Stewardess L. A. Ward.

Truman Says Presidency Killing Job

LONDON (AP) — Harry Truman today called the American presidency a "killing job" for one man and suggested the solution was "young men who've been trained for the job."

The former President refused to discuss President Eisenhower's illness, but in talking about the office of president said:

"It's a killing job—a six-man job. I know, I've been through it."

Asked what he thought was the solution, he replied:

"Young men. Young men must get young men, young men who've been trained for the job. That's the only way."

Truman was host today to Hugh Gaitskill and eight other members of the British Labor party. They ate lunch at a private room at Truman's hotel.

Referring to his meeting with Sir Winston Churchill yesterday, Truman said:

"Oh, we won the war all over again, took credit for doing it and like two old men had a good time reminiscing."

Earlier, he told newsmen the 81-year-old Churchill was "keen as a briar."

Baptists Open Convention

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The annual 3-day convention of the Arkansas Baptist Association will open here tomorrow.

Around 3,000 delegates and guests are expected.

Dr. Alber Garner, dean of the Texas Baptist Institute at Henderson, Tex., will be principal speaker.

Priest Stays Around Jail, He Likes It

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "I'm not going to sing a swan song and say goodbye because I'm not going to sing a swan song small, spare, elderly Roman Catholic priest peered over his spectacles at his audience—a roomful of inmates of the Maryland Penitentiary and Baltimore city jail.

"I'm going to hang around this place because I love it. I know you can't appreciate that — you'd rather hang around somewhere else," he said, smiling at the prisoners lauded.

The speaker was the Rev. Joseph J. Ayer, S. J., a 74-year-old Baltimorean with long white hair, a reddish face and the leprechaun look of Barry Fitzgerald.

The occasion was his last Mass yesterday in the big, gray stone building where he had ministered, "off and on," to men for 38 years.

During those years this tough, kindly man helped 54 men through their last hours in the death house, and fought long and hard for a commutation of death sentence and sometimes freedom for others when he felt justice had erred.

'Finders Limited' Will Ferret Out Information for a Client or Do Odd Jobs for a Fee

NEW YORK (AP) — A London author writing a play about Jesus Christ recently wanted to find out on what day of the week the Savior had been born.

He turned for help to Hugo Dunn-McNell, managing director of an unusual firm called "Finders Limited," which for a fee will ferret out information for a client or perform any odd job so long "as it is legal and moral."

He and his 25 assistants pored over hundreds of volumes of Biblical scholarship before coming up with this answer:

"Jesus probably was born either at Wednesday or Thursday midnight, but we can't go beyond that. Internal evidence within the Bible itself makes it unlikely he could have been born on any other day of the week."

This has been the most interesting of the queries that pour into his firm at his rate of about 200 a week, but there have been many strange ones.

An American, for example, wrote and asked that a hotel bed he had slept in during a stay in London be sent to him.

"I was extremely comfortable," he explained. Finders Limited went to the hotel, bought the bed, and shipped it over.

Dunn-McNell, who is 30, slender and wears a ginger goatee, served in the British navy and studied law before launching his unique career. It has taken him to most parts of the world, and he is now making a 13,000-mile trip around America.

His organization is geared for emergencies. Once it had to charter a car and race 35 miles to

Held for Passing Play Money to Blind Negro

City Police arrested a Negro man listed as Grover Williams over the weekend on a charge of passing "play" money to a blind Negro, Elmo Ferguson of Hope. Ferguson charged Williams asked him to change a dollar bill and he later discovered it was "play" money. Police said there was a witness to the transaction.

Drownings in State Exceed Fatal Wrecks

Drownings led traffic accidents as the cause of violent deaths in Arkansas during the week that ended Sunday midnight.

Seven persons drowned and six were killed in road mishaps. The violent death toll of 18 for the week also included a shooting, a construction fatality, a death from burns suffered in a tractor fire, a death caused by a falling tree and a suicide.

One third of the week's fatalities occurred Saturday.

An 18-year-old Texas naval reservist was killed and three companions injured when a car in which they were riding hit a bridge abutment on Highway 67 about 10 miles northeast of Prescott, Ark., Sunday morning.

State Police Trooper Guy Downing identified the dead youth as James Leonard May of San Antonio. The driver, Robert DeWitt Foster, 19; and John Dennis, 20, of San Antonio, Tex., were injured, and James Terrell Moore, 18, all of San Antonio.

Seventeen-year-old J. C. Waldele of Clinton was injured fatally in a head-on collision of two automobiles on Highway 7 about four miles east of Dover Saturday night.

Sheriff Terrell Bishop said Wadele was riding in a car driven by Francis Clell Witt, 21, of Morrilton, which collided with a car driven by Laudell Allen, 20, of Scottsville.

Witt, Allen, and Ronald Godfrey, 16, another passenger in Witt's car, were injured in the crash. Witt and Allen were hurt seriously.

A 24-year-old Mexican, Chaves Morales Salvador, was killed Saturday night when struck by an automobile as he walked along Highway 40 about one mile east of Lenape. Driver of the car was identified by state police as Doyle Crow, 16, of Lepanto.

Another pedestrian killed Saturday night was Nick Boone, 50-year-old Plumerville Negro, who was hit by a truck on Highway 64 about three miles east of that central Arkansas town.

Police said the truck which hit Boone was driven by Clarence C. Vaughn of Hernandez, Miss.

Ten-year-old Richard Ruelove, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Ruelove of West Fork, Ark., was killed while crossing Highway 71 about 18 miles south of Fayetteville Saturday.

State Police Trooper Kenneth McKee said the driver of the car was Albert Tullar, 60, of Winslow, Ark.

A Memphis man, Irva E. Kaiser, drowned Sunday while on a fishing trip at Maddox Bay, a part of the White River about 20 miles south of Clarendon. The body was recovered.

Henry Rouse Jr., 15-year-old Negro, drowned in a rice reservoir at the New Gascony community near Pine Bluff Saturday.

A suicide at Little Rock Saturday completed the toll of eight dead for the weekend.

There were five other drowning during the week — near Warren; near Leslie, where two drowned; near Magnolia and near DeQueen.

The week's only other traffic death occurred near Hughes.

A shooting at Clarendon, a tractor — fire death near Batesville, a death from a falling tree near Ashdown and a construction project fatality near Booneville completed the week's toll.

Ark-La Rate Hike Okayed by Judge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Public Service Commission order granting Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. $300,000 annual rate increase was upheld here Saturday by Pulaski Circuit Judge Judge J. Mitchell Cockrill.

The Nov. 3 action of the PSC had been challenged by eight industrial firms which claimed that the order didn't make findings in sufficient detail for a court determination of the case.

An attorney for four of the companies, Reuben Goldberg of Washington, D. C., said Judge Cockrill's decision would be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Court Takes Out Two Sections of Industrial Law

By TOM DYGDARD
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today knocked out two sections of the state's industrial development law. The court said, however, that it felt there "is still left a valid and workable act."

Ruling on a test suit filed against the Helena-West Helena Industrial Development Corp., the Supreme Court declared:

1. It is a violation of the Arkansas constitution for cities to become stockholders or "purchase a membership" in a corporation.

2. Bonds issued in accordance with the industrial development act cannot under the Arkansas constitution be tax exempt as outlined in the act.

Three other attacks on the 1955 Legislature's effort to help lure new industry to Arkansas were turned back by the Supreme Court. The sections specifically approved, in answer to the suit, included:

1. Organization of local groups into private corporations for the purpose of attracting new industry. This does not make the city government responsible, simply because the private citizens represent a certain city or area, the court said.

2. The purchase of bonds, up to 50 per cent of the issue. This is "certainly not" to be construed as meaning the city is lending its credit to the project, the court said.

3. The use of the group's money to purchase heavy equipment for a building it is using to help an industry locate in Arkansas. The court said the industrial development act prohibited the purchase of heavy equipment separate from a building but did not forbid outfitting a building.

The suit was brought by a group headed by Charles E. Halbert. It attacked the Helena-West Helena Industrial Development Corp., an organization's bond issue aimed at helping The Mohawk Rubber Co.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will convalesce at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa., after checking out of Walter Reed Army Hospital late this week, probably Friday or Saturday.

It was also announced today that:

1. Eisenhower has decided to visit Panama City July 21-22 for a meeting with the presidents of other American republics.

2. Talks Eisenhower had scheduled for July 7-10 with Prime Minister Nehru of India have been postponed. Nehru has been asked to suggest new dates.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced that the president and Mrs. Eisenhower are definitely planning to spend the coming weekend at the farm.

Hagerty told a news conference he had no details yet as to just when Eisenhower will be discharged from the hospital.

By the President's physicians reportedly are planning to let him check out Friday or Saturday if his recovery progress continues as it has been going—"very satisfactorily."

The plans announced by Hagerty mean that the President, hospitalized since June 8, will spend his 40th wedding anniversary at the farm with Mrs. Eisenhower. The anniversary is Sunday.

In reply to questions, Hagerty said he had no information yet as to whether the President may stop at the White House, and perhaps stay there overnight, before going on to Gettysburg.

Twining Carries Ike's Message to Gen. Zhukov

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW (UP) — Gen. Nathan F. Twining today delivered a personal message from President Eisenhower to Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov and then left Moscow to visit a secret Russian fighter base at Gubinka, 40 miles from Moscow.

Twining, the U. S. air force chief of staff, visited the Gubinka base to inspect the installations but there was no mediate indication whether he would get a close up look at the seven new jet planes Russia unveiled yesterday on Soviet Air Force day.

Twining called on Zhukov, the Soviet war minister, at 10 a. m. today on the first personal courtesy call of his look-see at Russian air might and delivered the President's personal thanks for Zhukov's thoughtfulness during the President's illness.

It was understood Zhukov asked Twining to relay his renewed best wishes to the President "from an old soldier and comrade in arms."

The emphasis on the Sunday display was in defense planes but the Soviets hinted they may show off some of their newest jet bombers later.

The airshow was the highlight of the program for Twining and other visiting military leaders but a five-hour reception given by Zhukov gave the visitors more time to talk with the Soviets and to hear Twining uphold the American arms policies.

4 Important Issues Face Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — With leaders atling for adjournment three weeks from now, Congress fired today for a busy week which may bring important action on defense money, foreign aid, highways and school aid bills.

Major tests lay ahead too on civil rights legislation and a big veterans' pension proposal.

The Senate neared the voting stage on a hotly debated recommendation by its Appropriations Committee to add more than a billion dollars to the amount President Eisenhower asked for the Air Force in the bookkeeping year which starts next Sunday.

Democrats are leading a fight to provide the Air Force with money as a means of quickening the nation's air power buildup. Secretary of Defense Wilson has insisted no more money than Eisenhower sought is required; and Republican senators are backing a move to hold the increase to 500 million dollars.

Other items in the 35-billion-dollar defense money bill are generally noncontroversial. Final Senate action will send the measure to conference with the House, which followed fairly closely Eisenhower's recommendations.

The House docketed minor bills for action today.

She is survived by her husband, W. M. Ward, two sons, R. E. Ward of Ardmore, Oklahoma, and Roy Ward of Nash, Texas; two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Blackmon of Oklahoma and Mrs. Frank Schooley of Hope.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Sunday at Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home Chapel by the Rev. S. A. Whitlow. Burial was in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Two Arrests After Wreck Near Blevins

An auto driven by E. Dee Lee of Nashville went out of control about 8:15 p. m. Sunday on Highway 24, 3 miles east of Blevins, and overturned twice, slightly injuring a passenger H. E. Perry also of Nashville.

Investigating State Officers Travis Ward said both men were charged with drunkenness. He said Perry was thrown out of the auto which landed upright after overturning twice. The officers said Lee drove off and left him lying on the road. An ambulance took Perry to a hospital for treatment of a badly cut arm. He was released after treatment.

Mr. Ward said he later arrested Lee who had driven to a relative's home following the accident. He said the relative was bringing Lee back to the scene of the accident when he met them on the highway.

establish a fire manufacturing plant at the east Arkansas city. In the Supreme Court opinion, written by Associate Justice Ed F. McFaddin, the industrial development act was described as "Arkansas' attempt to keep up with the efforts that other states are making to attract industry."

The act—No. 404 of 1955—set up the machinery for the formation of local groups to work with the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission in drawing industry's attention to Arkansas as a potential plant site. The AIDC also was formed by the act.

Associate Justice J. Seaborn Holt dissented in his portion of the opinion that stated that tax-free bond issues would be unconstitutional. Associate Justice George Rose Smith did not participate.

The suit came to the Supreme Court on appeal from Pulaski Chancery Court, 2nd Division, where the judge dismissed the suit.

Under the 1955 act, a 7-member AIDC was formed. The act also said that 15 or more residents of a city, town or county could organize a non-profit corporation to aid industrial development. These groups are required to submit proposed organization papers to the AIDC for approval. After approval, the papers are filed with the secretary of state.

The private corporation can issue bonds for the construction of a plant, which is to be sold, rented or given to an industry as an inducement to locate in the community.

In several respects, the local groups are under the supervision of the AIDC.

Shu Yamamoto, chairman of the society for the popularization of mountain climbing and skiing in Tokyo, said he and Miss Yoshiko Ishida will leave Tokyo for the village July 1.

"We will try to calm down the feeling of the inhabitants who have decided to resort to picket lines to black any woman attempting to climb the mountain," Yamamoto said.

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Motorboat enthusiasts have a New Orleans-to-St. Louis speed record to shoot at on the Mississippi River today.

Roy Cullum, 39, and Dick Arant, 41, both of North Little Rock, Ark., completed the 1,053-mile course early yesterday in 47 hours and 20 minutes. They left New Orleans early Friday.

District Vote Turned Down by Democrats

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The State Democratic Committee apparently dismissed today the request for a special primary election to select a nominee for Eighteenth District prosecutor by deferring the question until after the second statewide primary Aug. 14.

The group also voted to meet here July 21 to select the state's delegates to the National Democratic Convention, which will be held in Chicago Aug. 13.

Tom Harper of Fort Smith, committee chairman, said that the committee had the authority to decide what action should be taken in the event there is no party nominee for an office. However, he said that a vacancy would not exist until after the runoff primary.

The party was left without a contender for the position of prosecutor when Elmer Tackett, the only candidate, died from a self-inflicted bullet wound in front of a Hot Springs mortuary after the ticket had closed.

The committee followed Harper's suggestion to defer action without a dissenting vote.

One of the two men who have said they would seek the office favor a special primary to coincide with the statewide balloting, while the other suggested that run as independents in the November election.

The candidates are James R.

through," he said.

Their 375-pound boat took a beating.

"If we left it in the water another hour, it would sink," Cullum said.

The two men were delayed five hours at Helena, Ark., by mechanical difficulties. A brief encounter with a sandbar near Chester, Ill., was their only other major mishap.

Cool Air Invades the Great Lakes

By The Associated Press

Cooler air invaded the Great Lakes region and the Northwest today, but steamy weather prevailed over the rest of the nation.

Warm temperatures and high humidity readings were reported from the central and southern plains eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Showers and thunderstorms occurred over much of this area with several cities reporting more than an inch of rainfall.

The cooler air flowed over the Great Lakes region, dropping temperatures 10 to 20 degrees.

Grand Marais, Mich., reported an early morning low of 4-18 degrees cooler than yesterday.

The Southwest continued to sizzle. The low temperature today at Needles, Calif., on the Arizona border was 94.

deliver a pair of forgotten false teeth to a British lady executive in time for her to make a speech to her stockholders.

It takes in stride weird requests to locate such items as an elephant's foot, a pre-revolutionary recording of the old Russian national anthem, or a nulla-nulla, which is an Australian throwing stick.

Once a horrified gentleman phoned for aid in a terrible personal dilemma. In sending some flowers he had gotten the cards mixed. The one he had sent to a funeral read "many happy returns of the day." The one he had sent to his lady friend read "with deepest sympathy." Finders Limb saved the day for him by dispatching an agent who changed the card before the mourners arrived.

"Our clients keep us on our toes," said Dunn-Meynell. "We never know what we'll be asked to do next."

Not long ago he had a hurry-up call from the Family Planning Association of Great Britain for toads, which are used in pregnancy tests.

He put an ad in "The Times" reading "300 male toads urgently needed"—and they flooded in from all parts of the English countryside.

His fees range from about 65 cents for a simple request for information up to $500 to make a market study of, say, the commercial possibilities of chocolate-flavored toothpaste in Saudi Arabia.

Most Americans are interested in backtracking their ancestors. Dunn-Meynell particularly enjoys these searches, for he has an impressive ancestry himself. He is "Lord of the Manor" of Yarm, a village in Yorkshire, where his family has had a large estate since 1280.

The prerogatives of his position don't worry him much.

"The Lord of the Manor is entitled to open the local fair," he said, smiling, "and to greet royalty—if they should ever happen by."

'Ooby Dooby' Star Coming Here Tuesday

Chalk up another hit for the Sun Record Company of Memphis, Tenn. The same company that discovered and pioneered Elvis Presley, and currently features the top name in the country rock and roll field, Carl Perkins, will tell you that a 20-year-old youngster from West Texas, Roy Orbison, is the hottest new artist in the business. Name of the hit "Ooby Dooby."

Born in Vernon, Texas, May 3, 1938, Roy Orbison moved to West Texas and started into the band business with friends, and had a regular radio show. After winding up his schooling, Orbison and company expanded and got a couple of regular TV spots at Odessa. "Ooby Dooby" and "Go Go Go" are moving fast, and the young fellow with the appearance of the average high school kid seems to be off to the big time.

Unmarried, and with no "steady," Roy enjoys dating, drawing, and, of course, his music. He likes football and track events, and his favorite type of car is a Cadillac. The smallest crowd he ever played for was himself (Roy says), and the largest crowd was 13,000 at the Coliseum in Odessa, Texas.

Orbison and his band are starting to meet some of the many demands from all over the country for his personal appearances. Between shows comes time for work on his next record for Sun, a task all artists have to stay with to assure themselves of good material. On stage—he's a teen-king with real zing—and a hit with all the bop-pin fans everywhere.

Warren Smith: Exclusive Sun recording artist who's recording of "Rock and Roll Ruby" is currently a big hit, will appear on this show.

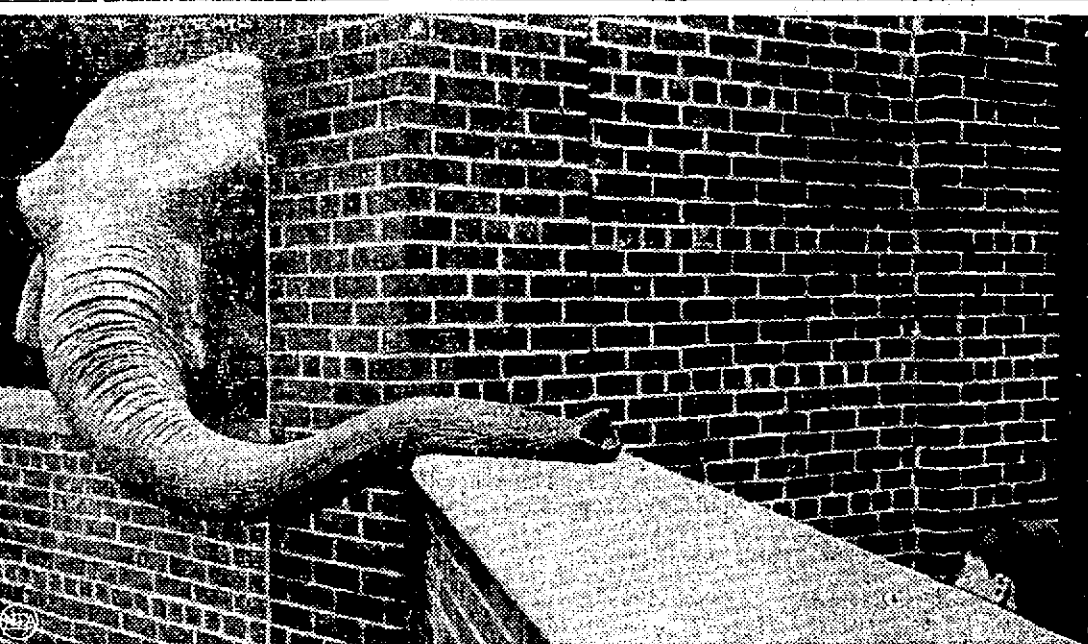

Hope, Mrs. Charles McClelland, Lewisville.
Discharged: Mrs. C. F. Wiggins Hope, Fagan Austin, McNab.

In preparation for her long tour, the 13th Maid of Cotton, Patricia Anne Cowden, went to a New York beauty salon to have a facial and learn about using cosmetics so she would look fresh all day. Getting the facial (left), Miss Cowden learns the salon method of applying cold cream, with long upward strokes, starting at the base of the neck and working on to the face. Applying makeup to a clean face (center), Miss Cowden puts on foundation in dots, then blends with fingertips. A touch of face powder and brown eyebrow pencil are added. All-day lipstick (right) goes on last. Lipstick and pressed powder compact go into her handbag for touch-ups which occasionally become necessary when she appears under bright lights.

DOROTHY DIX

Jealous Husband Is Joiler Unfriendly Neighbors After Her Money

Dear Miss Dix: My problem may seem trivial but it's got me up a tree. When we were married my husband and I were as happy as any other couple, even though we married because I was pregnant. I had a past, but my husband said it was the future that counted.

He is extremely jealous and for no reason won't let me go out, even to visit my family. I must sit home all day and not even go outside. My brothers or sisters would stop by to pick me up so I could visit my mother, but I must refuse. Although my mother lives only five miles away, I haven't seen her in several months.

We have three children and unless I take them all, I can't even do my grocery shopping. My husband has absolutely no cause for his jealousy. How can I cure it?

MYRA
Dear Myra: Whether or not you cure your husband's jealousy, you should refuse to be bullied. Wives should have a domestic Bill of Rights that certainly precludes constant confinement to the house.

Give your husband the assurance of loyalty, which he must take on faith. After all, he can't keep you under surveillance 24 hours a day. You must admit however, that a confessed past is bound to give doubts to a jealous husband.

Remind him of his statement that "only the future matters." Tell him it's about time he made good on that promise, and announce your intention of breaking jail. He won't like it, but it will take but a short time for him to adjust to the new order of things.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have lived in this small town for three years and am getting practically nowhere making friends. If I continue to wait for invitations, I'm afraid I'll stagnate and grow old. Instead of patiently sitting by the window, I'd like to invite several young couples in for Saturday evening parties. I'm a little shy about it, but what can I lose?

MRS. GEORGE H.
Dear Mrs. H.: Why, oh why, can't folks be more friendly to newcomers? The good old days of swapping calls certainly had lots to commend them.

Your idea is wonderful and if it doesn't meet with success, you're living in the midst of isolationists. One word of warning: Once you get the thing started, don't carry it all alone. Let the other neighbors do their share of entertaining.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been going with an awfully nice man for five months. He frequently comes as a special added attraction.

At the Saenger theater Tuesday night only—stage performance at 7:15 and 9:15.

Reds Admit Making a Few Mistakes

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—The leadership of the American Communist party has confessed to a series of damaging mistakes and guesses, besides conceding the party looked silly in thinking Stalin was infallible.

These mistakes include a dumb reliance on Karl Marx without looking at facts, the party's support in forming the Progressive party in 1948, and repeated predictions of war and depression.

Some results: The party has lost heavily in membership and in influence in politics and organized labor; it hasn't been able to win any "mass" support; and it has isolated itself from the main stream of American life.

The admissions came from Eugene Dennis, the party's real boss, and Max Weiss, its educational director, in reports to the Central Committee. Those reports have been printed in pamphlet form.

The reports were made after Russian Communist party boss Khrushchev had listed the mistakes and crimes he said were committed under Stalin.

Dennis said the party had neglected work in the big unions; had backed away from united fronts, which it is now seeking; did not appreciate until a couple of years ago the new world role of the Asians; had erred in making membership qualifications too tight; was wrong in lumping the "Eisenhower forces" and McCarthyism together; and was obviously away off in predicting immuto my home for dinner and we are very companionable. He seldom takes me out, but our evenings at home are so delightful I don't mind. We're both widowed; he's 44 and I'm 48.

The only question in my mind is this: I have some property and he is very curious about it. He wants to know when I'm going to sell, how much I'll get, what I do with the money earned on the property, etc. I'm beginning to wonder whether it's me or the property that interests him.

HELENE
Dear Helene: Those good, home-cooked dinners and a pleasant place to spend the evening (free) aren't exactly drawbacks either. Why, the man hasn't even sense enough to be subtle!

I hate to throw a wet towel on this budding romance, but I urge you to get out of it as soon as possible. The love match would be between him and your money.

Steel Official Denies Figures Are Mystery

By ROBERT G. SHORTEL

NEW YORK (UP)—Clifford F. Hood, president of U.S. Steel Corporation, denied today the industry has used "mystical figures" in presenting its five-year, no-strike contract offer to the United Steel workers.

The union has attacked as "propaganda" and "pure bunk" the industry's estimate that the contract would cost more than 65 cents an hour on a total package basis.

In a letter to employees, Hood said, "they are sound figures... employment cost figures are not mystical figures unrelated to employee benefits."

"Actually they are the yardstick of employee benefits. We do not spend one penny of employment costs that does not result in a benefit to employees."

Hood said that more than 53 cents an hour out of the estimated cost of 65 cents an hour will go directly into the steelworkers' pay check.

Over the five-year life of the proposed contract, he said, steelworkers will receive direct wage increases totaling 36.5 cents per hour.

John A. Stephens, chief negotiator for U.S. Steel, accused union Chief David J. McDonald of trying "to belittle the offer by talking about a 'nickel' increase in net pay."

Stephens said the total adds up to 65 cents an hour "which is a far cry" from McDonald's "nickel an hour."

In addition, Stephens noted, the companies also have included a cost-of-living clause in the contract which may swell the total cost of the offer even further.

Representatives of the United Steelworkers and the industry's three biggest producers resumed their deaunched bargaining talks on a new contract for 650,000 steelworkers. They declined to comment on the negotiations before resuming their sessions.

Two Ring Titles on Line This Week

By JAC KHAND
Of The Associated Press

The flyweight and bantamweight titles, only world championships held outside the United States, will be on the line this week in Uruguay and Italy.

Pascual Perez of Argentina will defend the fly weight crown (112 pounds) against Oscar Suarez of Havana in a Saturday match at Montevideo, Uruguay, the first world title match ever held in that city.

Tuesday night the Legionnaires will be seeking their second victory over a highly regarded Craftsman team from Camden. Charles Gough is scheduled to hurl for the locals.

The Hope boys won their first outing last week over a team from Texarkana by a decisive score.

Final Tryouts This Week in Olympics

By JACK STEVENSON
LOS ANGELES (AP) — This week brings the goal for which the best track and field athletes in the United States have worked for months and even years—the final tryouts for Uncle Sam's Olympic team.

Veteran champions of the past Olympiads and high school boys will be on like footing at the Coliseum Friday and Saturday.

Fields of 15 athletes for each of the 17 events have been decided in a series of three championship tests, he armed forces, national collegiate and national AAU. Here only the three best will make the team for the fall trip to Australia.

Record performances of the past two weeks signify the keenness of the competition for what could be this nation's greatest Olympic team.

One world record was smashed and another tied in the AAU event at Bakersfield, Calif., last Friday and Saturday, the final qualifying meet.

The Navy's Jack Davis, former University of Southern California star, ran the 110-meter high hurdles in 13.4 seconds to better the mark of 13.5 that has stood since Dick Atlesley, also of USC, set it in 1930.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

It's three or four months yet before the bird seasons open, before you can wear your legs off on the ridges for grouse or freeze your posterior in a duck blind. Not much to do in the scattergun line right now, save pop at a few clay targets, or call up a few crows. Nothing edible to shoot at.

Or is there? Matter of fact, if a confirmed shotgunner has the price of a plane ticket in his jeans, and a few extra bucks not too many, for house-boat hire, he can get in, on the fastest scattering gunnery we have on this continent, and do it in early August.

His target — or rather targets, since there'll be many thousands of them — will be a bird called the torcaza. No ornithologist, I don't know the whole story on these birds, but they're midway in size between a mourning dove and an ordinary barn pigeon, have all the speed and zigzag dodging ability of the dove and much greater virtue in the pan.

Blue-gray and on the dark side, they carry a cap of white feathers, hence the English name of white-crested pigeon. Actually even the ornithologists don't seem to be too savvy about the torcaza. While they show on the keys off Cuba's Isle of Pines in hordes during early summer, even penetrate into the Bahamas in smaller but still shootable numbers, just where they go to the southerly end of their migratory swing is still a mystery.

Central America? Perhaps, but if so they scatter widely. The swamps and jungles of the Orinoco and the Amazon I think swallow up the flights during our colder months. It makes no great difference, really since by the first of August, when the Cuban season opens, they're trafficking between the Isle of Pines and Cayo Matias in wavering clouds, which you can reach by a fast flight to Havana and then a short hop on Aerovias Q there's a berry-bearing tree called the guano. The sap of this tree is an irritant to human skins but the red fruit is the staff of life to the torcaza.

From the nesting areas on the keys the birds flight in to feed, then come back across a four-mile water hop toward the mangroves to roost, their crops loaded with guano. And every bird of these sky-darkening flights shows over one point on Cayo Matias. Pick your range and call your shot. The limit is 100 a day, but no shooting gentleman would ever down that many. The catch of course is getting to that point. It's a day's run from the Rio Jucaro base of Vic Baruthy in one of his house-boats. No other way to get there — but no more comfortable way could exist, either. Sunshine and clear green water — and the prospect of clouds of darting torcazas and sizzle-hot gun barrels.

JUST A LEAK

DETROIT (UP)—Lee Roy Ott, 39, thought he'd struck it rich yesterday when he found oil bubbling from a hole in his basement floor.

But Ott's dreams of riches ended when a chemist told him: "This stuff is either No. 2 or 3 kerosene."

SOME COULDN'T FLY

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UP) — Parakeet lover Enos H. Davis complained today that some early "worm" got 18 of his birds from a back yard cage.

Some of the birds couldn't fly, so he's sure they were stolen. Davis told police.

Wrought-Iron Novelties Are Turned Out by This Home Craft Shop Just East of Hope

Karl Lambright and his wife Ezma moved to Hope in 1954 and in two years have built up a thriving business in antiques and the manufacture of wrought-iron novelties.

BOTTOM — Here, in the shop's backroom, he is using electric spot-welding to "back" two pieces of iron in the initial stage of manufacture.

The Lambrights came here from Camden where Mr. Lambright had been an electrician for the International Paper Co. for eight years — until bad health compelled him to quit. Casting about for a new life the Lambrights spent a few months in Texas (they were originally from Houston), where Mrs. Lambright experimented with running a gift shop.

She found herself constantly short of merchandise. And that's where Mr. Lambright got the idea of making it instead of buying it. And they came to Hope and spoiled the idea successfully.

Future of County Topic of Conference

Next Thursday night, June 28th, some of this county's leading citizens will gather at a Chamber of Commerce-sponsored meeting to hear some mighty important words, and to make some mighty important decisions.

The words they hear and the decisions they make after hearing them will effect every citizen in Hempstead County. For it will be up to this group to decide whether they want to band together with all the citizens here in a program of betterment, the results of which can accomplish nothing but good for Hempstead County.

This meeting, held under the auspices of the Arkansas Economic Council-State Chamber of Commerce, will bring together some pretty startling facts and figures. The membership of the sponsoring agencies have put their heads together and have arrived at the goals they believe Arkansas and Hempstead County should achieve in the next 10 years.

They have chosen 10 economic indices — population, per capita income, retail sales, cash farm income, manufacturing jobs, value of manufacturing plants, bank resources, tourist income, education expense per pupil and construction — and have forecast the amount of growth the state should achieve in these categories by 1965. They have also figured Hempstead County's pro rata share in attaining this growth. However, this county will be given an opportunity to study our own situation and adopt our own goals.

Every citizen of Hempstead County should take an active interest in this program. With every one behind it we'll surpass our own goals and make an even better Hempstead County.

Gives Glimpse of Men's Suits of Future

By Bob (AP) — Hey, gents, want a peek at your attire of the future? All you have to do is clamber into it zip it up and you're ready to head for the office. It's a one-piece affair, just like Winston Churchill's blitz suit, but with a difference. It's so designed that looks as if you have on the usual pants, belt, shirt and tie.

All of these elements are simulated in the design, yet it fits loosely and zips up the front in a jiffy. For more formal wear there's a matching coat, itself simplified. No superfluous lapels, no pockets to bulge, no cuff buttons.

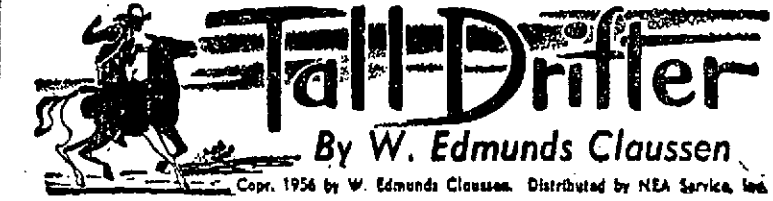

The one-piece suit for males has been proposed before, but it is getting a big push by Sy Devore, Hollywood's hottest haberdasher who has a wealth of film names in his clientele.

"It's the ideal suit of the future," Devore expounded in his Vine Street salon. "With life moving so fast, men need clothes they can put on in a hurry and wear comfortably."

"And it's great for traveling. It's made out of a new material created from wood chips by the Swiss. You just put it in the washing machine, hang it up and it's ready to wear the next morning. It needs no pressing and it wears almost indefinitely."

"I made a couple up for Vic Damone, and he was crazy about them. Bill Holden saw them and wanted one for his trip to Russia, though I couldn't get it done in time. Jerry Lewis is all for them. I made a pair for his trip to New York."

Devore's price to the film names: $135 a copy. But he thinks the price to the public could be around $45 when they're mass-produced.

CHAPTER XXXI

For hours they skirted the low pine hills making a wide sweep around Norring's quarters and around Cashtown. In this way Jean hoped to strike the Skull about 10 miles north of town. Through this country of alternate pasture and scrub pine she pointed the herd with Alex Jacobs and Frank at her stirrups. It was upon the boy she now pinned her faith.

This was the country into which the kid had been bred, into which he had run footloose during the summers between school seasons. With his young mind he had pictured himself as Kit Carson first and then Fremont and Bill Williams and Lucian Maxwell and that roster of fabled pioneer scouts and buffalo hunters. She remembered the beginning, how Alex's father had come to their door when the boy had been only about 10. He'd asked Vogel to keep an eye on Alex, and her father, with typical generosity, had accepted him on Rafter. Old man Jacobs had been a fur trapper in smoke blackened buckskins and an animal skin cap. Each season he wandered from his cabin and stayed away longer. Then one spring he failed to return. Alex had been on Rafter C ever since.

Unexpectedly they rounded a sparsely grassed over knob and caught the glimmer of water a hundred feet below them. Across the river was the basin Frank had crossed in first coming to Cashtown. With almost no scouting Alex seemed to locate a gentle slope from the bluff to the flat land beside the Skull.

She lifted her gaze questioning to Frank when he indicated he meant to remain on the bluff. He tossed his head backward and for the first time she saw the dust cone against the dark pine hills. This was not dust they had lifted. It quartered toward them from another angle, and it was made by horses coming at a fast run. He pressed her hand as she rode beyond him, dropping from the covery to follow.

The U.S. cotton crop is making generally favorable progress. It is too early in the season, however, to form any hard and fast opinion as to the final size. Possible insect damage must be reckoned with between now and harvest time. Plantings this year were officially restricted to a total of only 17,437,000 acres. As recently as 1951, farmers planted 23,195,000 acres to cotton. No record crop will be grown on the relatively small 1956 acreage, but it may turn out to be larger than the cut in acreage would indicate.

Farmers in recent years have learned the art of intensive cultivation — of "getting the most out of the least." It is a safe bet that Dixie will follow this procedure in cotton this year. Even a reduction to only 10,000,000 bales would not go very far toward cutting the millions of bales in government hands. The cotton problem is still far from solution.

In the past several years, American farmers as a whole have taken it "on the chin" piecewise. In the last few months, however, the average of farm prices has been edging upward. Barring a severe business recession, which I am not now forecasting for 1956, I believe that the farm price decline for this cycle is about over. The Soil Bank plan and other remedial measures yet to be found and applied should go far toward correcting the errors of the past in agriculture, although some small and inefficient farmers may get hurt in the healing process.

TO SELL 'A' FUEL

The agreements, announced yesterday, are the first of their kind to be signed since those last year with Britain, Belgium and Canada.

ANGRY CAT
CHICAGO (UP) — Gerald A. Griffin's car let out a piercing screech yesterday when he started it up. He had a sickening fear he had hit a child.

Then Griffin raised the hood. An angry cat, wedged between the fan belt and radiator, stared up at him and let out another screech.

Around The World

PARIS (UP) 8 four hundred Russian tourists, looking like a group of Iowa farmers going to a county fair, today started exploring a city that has been a travelers' mecca for 700 years.

From their shoulders hung the international badges of tourism-cameras in brown leathers cases. Many wore brightly colored ties that French newsmen were quick to point out bore sharp resemblance to point out bore sharp resemblance to tourists.

The men wore white or yellow Panama hats decorated with flashy bands.

Their wives smiling and curious about Paris shop windows, generally wore tailored suits with high heels and silk stockings.

Army Rapidly Educating Its Personnel

The Army is rapidly becoming the most highly educated organization in the world. According to figures released by the Army recruiting station in Texarkana more than 200,000 men and women were graduated from service schools, while the remainder of the more than 190,000 of the 202,200 students graduated from Army schools, while the remainder of the completed courses were credited to Army personnel attending schools operated by the Navy, Air Force and civilian educational institutions cooperating with the Army Education Program.

Interested high school graduates have a choice of more than 100 courses offered—all at Army schools in the States. Sergeant Frank Smith will help with the application and forward it to Washington for approval. In about two weeks, the applicant will be notified in writing of the approval and be given a definite date to enlist.

Individuals from the Hope area will be sent to the Army Recruiting Station at Little Rock for enlistment, usually about three months before the school begins. This gives the new soldier time to complete eight weeks basic military training at Fort Chaffee before he reports to his chosen school.

Persons interested in advancing their education through the Army Education Program may contact Sergeant Frank E. Smith at 322 West Third in Texarkana, or when he visits Hope each week.

Nature Could Help Farm Problem

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON Park, Mass. (Special) —From present early indications, Mother Nature may be of some assistance this year to harassed government officials — not to mention overburdened taxpayers—in reducing farm surpluses. My first survey of the 1956 crop prospects in eleven years. Here are some of the highlights.

For the third successive year, total production of wheat probably will fall short of the billion-bushel mark. Output of winter wheat — the main crop — may be in the vicinity of 670,000,000 bushels — down 5 per cent from a year ago and well below average. If the spring crop amounts to about 253,000,000 bushels, as I expect the total U. S. crop of 923,000,000 bushels would be the smallest since 1943. However, since the total July 1 carry-over threatens to top 1,400,000,000 bushels, total supplies will still be burdensome.

Rye is doing well in some areas, less so in others. Its over-all condition as of June 1 was 78 per cent of normal, compared with 74 per cent on June 1, 1955 and with the 10-year average of 82 per cent. This could mean an outturn this year equaling or exceeding the above-average crop of 20,187,000 bushels produced last year. This would be sufficient for all requirements.

It is uncertain at this writing just what effect the government's Soil Bank program will have on production of corn and soybeans this year, but my forecast is, no very much. Last spring, corn farmers indicated that they intended to plant an acreage 3.5 per cent smaller than in 1955, when the crop amounted to 3,184,836,000 bushels — the sixth largest of record. Given favorable weather conditions, I believe the Corn Belt will "go to town" again this year. Meanwhile, I forecast higher average prices for old-crop corn, and lower prices for new-crop corn this fall.

Last spring farmers indicated intentions to plant a record 21,760,000 acres to soybeans — up 10.6 per cent from the previous 1955 record. Nothing has since occurred, as far as I know, to materially alert those intentions. I weather conditions remain favorable. The 1956 crop of soybeans could easily top 400,000,000 bushels and set a new record for this wonder bean. Total supplies for 1955-1957 should not, however, prove burdensome, in view of the government support program and in expected heavy volume of total consumption. Some price weakness could develop this fall, with re-

VIENNA, Austria (UP) — Three Hungarian children aged five to nine, were killed when a World War Two mine which they found exploded while they were playing with it yesterday.

COLON, Panama (UP) — Dr. Luis Puyol denied reports today that former Argentine Dictator Juan D. Peron is seriously ill at his exile home here.

Puyol said the 60-year-old political refugee is "healthier than a 20-year-old youngster."

"I treated him recently for a heavy cold, but that is his only lapse from perfect health since he settled in Colon," the doctor said.

PAPAGIOX, Brazil (UP) — The provincial village lost its oldest inhabitant yesterday at the reported age of 150.
